2026-02-22-icsc Sunday Message

Title: I am a Happy Evangelist

Scripture: Deut 33:26-29

Intro

Through the flow of the pulpit message, God lets us know that he is with those who are saved by the word, guiding and protecting them. Through last month's pulpit message, he allowed us to understand the meaning of the name Jeshurun and realize how great the blessings we have received are. He calls us by a name that shows his love and care for us, and he is with us through the Holy Spirit to help us. Whenever we call on the name of Christ and meditate, he lets us know that all authority in heaven and on earth belongs to Christ, breaks down all darkness, and crushes the forces of curses. Through the Sunday pulpit messages given through our senior pastor, he guides us so that we may win the spiritual battle with the blessings we have received for regional evangelization and personal salvation. And we give thanks that every week, through Reverend Ryu's world evangelization messages, he continually confirms our identity and the reason and content of saving the 237 nations and 5,000 tribes.

We are in the field today, within such amazing blessings, to save America, Latin America, the remnants, and people of all nations. This is not something we must accomplish ourselves; it is God who will do this work, and it is a covenant that he will establish us as witnesses within it. I did not come to live in America on my own; rather, God led me to America, allowed me to live in this region, and sent me to receive grace, gain strength, and become a witness through this church. We must confirm this once again. Therefore, I bless you all so that we may receive answers together within this flow.

Through worship, we must have the correct identity of who we are so that, within the right answers and the true gospel, we may receive the greatest answers, and become the main figures who save the field and prepare for the future. We have been called as God's children and have received the blessing of his constant presence. When this blessing is confirmed to me, I will gain assurance and become a witness of it. After today's worship, we must clearly organize what blessings we have received as God's children and what we must testify to in the field, and confirm the blessing of being evangelists who save the place where we are. Our lives are not about doing things just to become happy; rather, since the Creator God has already given me everything I need, through worship we are to discover those blessings, enjoy true happiness, and become witnesses.

1.I am God's Eternal Bartizan (v.27)

Through the training up to now, we have already been placed in the position of evangelists and have come to know what we possess and what we must pass onto the next generation and to the field. Now what remains is to believe that God will work and to challenge through prayer. For this, each person should practice the 3 concentrations in prayer - morning, day, and night - enjoying the Triune God, confessing the name of Christ, and meditating on it. This is because the secret to victory in the field is Christ. The spirit of God, the Holy Spirit, makes me his dwelling place and stays with me, and when I call on his name and meditate, the sinful nature that deceives us and the curses that come from sin will be broken. The demons and Satan that operate through these things will inevitably be bound, because God has clearly said that he will destroy and drive away all enemies. We, who bear the image of God, have been given the status to always be with him. The secret of this is Jesus Christ, who came as the offspring of the woman. He is the true prophet who opened the way to meet God, the true priest who set us free from all curses that come because of sin, and the true king who shattered the head of Satan - the liar who has deceived us from the beginning - breaking all his authority and giving us the power to overcome. Today again we must confirm, confess, and proclaim that his name is Jesus. The name I will call forever is Jesus - the name that makes us happy just by calling it.

2.I am on a Journey with God (v.28)

We have received salvation, and since then God has continually guided us by his word and allowed us to live centered on worship, prayer and the word through the work of the Holy Spirit. We are truly happy and thankful because God has a clear plan for why we must live in America and for the studies, work, and businesses we are doing now. The lives of the remnants preparing for the future, and the lives of the parents and church officers who become their platform, are also journeys guided by God, and for this we are grateful. Because we have lived according to what the world taught us - self-centeredness of Genesis 3, materialism of Genesis 6, and success-centeredness of Genesis 11 - we sometimes hesitate with anxiety, fear, and worry as we live each day. But one thing is certain: the word that God has given will save us, heal us, and restore us, and he has a perfect plan to deliver this life-giving gospel to many people in the field and even to 237 nations and 5,000 tribes. After the Exodus, the people of Israel did nothing on their own. They simply lived according to God's word and a life of worship that God desired, and that was the secret that saved the world. It prevented the wrath of God that should have come upon the whole world. For the Israelites who lived for this purpose, God supplied everything they needed: a pillar of fire to overcome the cold, a pillar of cloud to shield them from the heat, manna each day to satisfy their hunger, and fresh water from the rock. Everything they needed in the wilderness was supplied from heaven. In the same way, our lives and our journeys are like that time. If we continue until the day the Lord returns - gathering to worship and pray, forming teams, going into evangelism and mission fields, and proclaiming that Jesus is the Christ - this itself will be the answer that saves the age and the field. Therefore, our lives are truly a joyful journey.

3. I am a Happy Evangelist (v.29)

This is the conclusion I want to share. No matter what anyone says, you and I are the happiest people. We are people who live each day receiving God's grace, and because we are so thankful for this grace, we worship, praise, give thanks, pray, evangelize, and devote ourselves to Sunday school every week to pass this covenant onto the next generation. Truly, we are happy people. Today's message is a message of blessing, love, and admiration spoken to Jeshurun - the people of Israel - who were finally about to enter the land of Canaan prepared by God after finishing forty years in the wilderness. This is because Moses himself could not enter that land of covenant. Yet he was not resentful or dissatisfied; he only expressed a sense of longing for not being able to go in with them. Moses, who ran his entire life toward the land where the Messiah would come - the land where the offspring of the woman would appear - speaks to us today and says that we are happy people. Jesus Christ, who came as the fulfillment of that covenant, is now with us and will be with us forever, allowing us to always enjoy the blessings of the throne. In his name we have received the identity, authority, and mission to block all curses and disasters and freely proclaim the gospel of life to this age - people whom even Moses would envy. The guidepost that you, who have received the greatest blessing today, must follow is world evangelization. He will open the way for you to save 237 nations and 5,000 tribes. Therefore, you are happy evangelists. I bless you in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to live a lifelong victorious, thankful, and joyful life as evangelists.